

MIAC Native Youth Summer Film Camp

The Museum of Indian Arts and Culture (MIAC) is planning a two-week Summer intensive video program for Native students 14 - 18.

Over the two-week course, students will select, examine and conceptualize the making of a short 2 - 3 minute film based upon MIAC's current exhibits.

Week 1 the students will write, cast and shoot their scripts at MIAC

Week 2 the students will finish shooting and then edit their stories at the Institute of American Indian Art campus.

On Friday June 17th finished films will be screened at MIAC in an intimate festival with friends and family.

Native students ages 14 - 18 are encouraged to apply.

Session June 5th - 16th
10:00 am to 4:00 pm
